About Merry...

At 30 I had it all. House, car, partner, two dogs and top job in international business. I wasn't happy so I embarked on an adventure to discover a deeper meaning. From acting & directing to Native American wisdom training to working with visionary leaders who want to make the world a better place I found my true purpose. "Empowering visionaries to make the world a better place". My working week is now split between writing, "Letters to my Life Coach" due to be published Spring 2008, working at the House of Lords to improve our education system, leading a team of Inspirational Speakers, running Visionary Leaders Groups and coaching a variety of business leaders, sports professionals and actors to find their true meaning and purpose.
